Workshop report on ‘Political Economy of Debt and process of CSO Debt Audit’

1. Event, objectives and participants

In line with the illegitimate debt workshop held in the Philippines in March 2008, the above organizations in cooperation with COAST organized a 3 day workshop, from 05-09 March 2009, titled ‘Political Economy of Debt and process of CSO Debt Audit’ respectively for activists and NGO professional; the objective of this workshop was to develop a core activist group who would analyze country’s debt situation and implement debt audit from Civil Society perspective. The workshop held at COAST Training and Management Center, Coxsbazar, a sea resort town situated around 400 km far away from Dhaka.

In fact, development of a core activist group on the subject matter is very critical for now and future as government dependency on loans both from the external and internal sources has been increasing alarmingly which, in turn, making the government bound reducing finance in social service sectors.

organized this workshop that have a common standpoint against neo-liberal economics and domination of IFIs over country’s sovereign development planning. Therefore, this training was to re-integrate spirit and interaction among the anti neo-liberal campaigners and formulate a broad based common & minimum campaign strategy for 2009 focusing illegitimate debt and debt audit. A total of 15 activist and campaigners from different organizations participated in the training.

2. Sessions and Methodology

Prior to the workshop in Coxsbazar there were two small group preparatory meeting have held in Dhaka especially with the participation from VOICE, Bangla parxis, Actionaid and EquityBD. Six academic sessions were conducted; each of the sessions started with a presentation on the specific issue and concluded following an open discussion and expert opinion from the session moderator.

Session I: Setting workshop objectives, reflection from the participants on the issue.

Mr. Mohiuddin Ahmed (JS-APMDD) and Rezaul Karim Chowdhury (EquityBD) moderated this session; major issues were sharing training objectives, synthesizing expectations of the training participants' and incorporating participant's view on the session topics.

Session II: Neo liberal economic order and financial capital

Ahmed Sawpan Mahmud –VOICE made a descriptive presentation and overview on the conceptual framework of neo-liberal economic order. He also highlighted on historical perspective of economic orders and financing policies of the northern countries and their allied IFIs on the LDCs. Mohiuddin Ahmed, Chairperson JSAPMDD moderated the session and gave his expert opinion how neo-liberal economic polices are endangering life and livelihoods of the common people across the South Asia

Group Discussion

Session III: Development aid, debt and domination

This session was moderated by Md. Faruk Ahmed – MFTD and a prominent economic journalist of Bangladesh Sanbad Sangstha (BSS). Syed Aminul Hoque of EquityBD made the key note presentation while he discussed the reflection of neo-liberal policies i.e. impact of SAP, PRGF and PRSP implementation in Bangladesh.

Session IV: Experiences from IFI's funded project and programs and case analysis

Open Discussion

In this session a number of IFI financed projects were presented as the cases of bad project. Discussion on the projects helped the participants to know on the socio-ecological impact of the IFI's funding projects, role of government agencies in facilitating interests of the IFIs and corporations and the contingent liability of the state. Further discussion on the cases helped the participants in setting criteria of illegitimate and odious debt.

All the presented projects were found creating damages in local environment, foreclosing livelihoods options of local people and gross anomaly in financial management. In all cases participation of local people in the planning and implementation processes were denied, which allowed corruption. Md.
